Annual Report 2020–2021

Benjamin Beilman and Rebecca Albers perform alongside Wu Han, 2020–2021 Featured Artist together with David Finckel (not pictured)

Dear friends,

Schubert Club's 20-21 season was one filled with innovation, resilience and a spirit of commitment. The effects of the COVID pandemic called upon staff, artists, and supporters to rise to many challenges, and to find ways to offer alternatives to the organization's customary offerings.

We spent much of the year hoping live events would return at some point, but plans had to be pushed back repeatedly. We learned quickly how to record and present digital concerts and education programs online. Entrants to the Bruce P. Carlson Student Scholarship Competition submitted video recordings for judging; and Project Cheer students took their piano and guitar lessons on Zoom. In June, despite unseasonably hot weather, we succeeded in presenting five live outdoor "Schubert Revealed" concerts to limited capacity audiences. Featured Artists David Finckel and Wu Han, together with other guest musicians, delighted audiences as they themselves were grateful to return to live performances.

The Schubert Club Music Museum was closed for a complete redesign. In June 2021, we reopened and have been delighted with the positive feedback from visitors exploring the interactive Music Makers Zone and our refreshed display of keyboard instruments and composer manuscripts. A debt of gratitude is owed to Education and Museum Director Kate Cooper, her colleagues, and the Schubert Club Museum Committee led by Lyndel King. Their vision and hard work resulted in the successful redesign which fills a portion of Landmark Center's 2nd floor.

Following transformative work with guidance and leadership from Benson Rutten Innovations, our Board adopted a blueprint to being a more equitable and inclusive organization. A significant focus of our Strategic Plan, this commitment will be monitored and implemented by our Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Committee.

Uncertainty surrounding finances filled the year. With few tickets to sell, our dependence on contributions and grants was more significant than ever. The exceptional support through donations, foundation grants, City, State and Federal assistance and a generous bequest led us to finish an unsettling year with a comfortable surplus —a most unlikely outcome under the circumstances.

We are humbly grateful for the well wishes, encouragement and generous support from our widespread community. We look forward to seeing you again soon and extend our heartfelt appreciation.

Virtual Bruce P. Carlson Student Scholarship Competition

The 2020-21 Bruce P. Carlson Student Scholarship Competition looked quite different than any competition in past history. Because of the Covid-19 pandemic we adapted the format to be a virtual competition for all of our regular divisions which include Brass and Woodwinds, Guitar, Piano, Strings, and Voice categories for students in Grade 7 through Graduate level.

We set a record for applications, totaling 294. Six divisions were close to or reached capacity in Piano, Strings, and Voice. Applications were received from a high number of students new to the competition. We also had an impressive line-up of 16 judges from across the country. This year's competition culminated in a two-night Virtual Winner's Recital, which featured videos of 14 scholarship recipients.

Notable Moments in Our Season

Schubert Revealed

Schubert Club's 2020–2021 Featured Artists, David Finckel and Wu Han, had curated a series of programs celebrating the music of Franz Schubert for various Schubert Club series throughout the season. With customary ingenuity, they adapted their programming to a mini-festival outdoors. These five sold-out concerts at the Schilling Amphitheater at the Minnesota State Fairgrounds were our first in-person concerts in over a year.

Composer-in-Residence, deVon Russell Gray, completed his two-year residency with virtual programs for Schubert Club Mix, the Courtroom Concert Series, and KidsJam. These presentations included local musicians Joe Horton; Erik Fratzke, electric guitar; Davu Seru, drums & cello; Josh Granowski, bass; Nathan Hanson, saxes; Renée Copeland, movement artist

2021 An die Musik Award

Anna Marie Ettel, President of the Board from 1994 to 1997 was awarded the 2021 An die Musik Award in recognition of more than 30 years of service and commitment. Anne Hunter and Barry Kempton surprised her with the Award while videotaping some reminiscences.

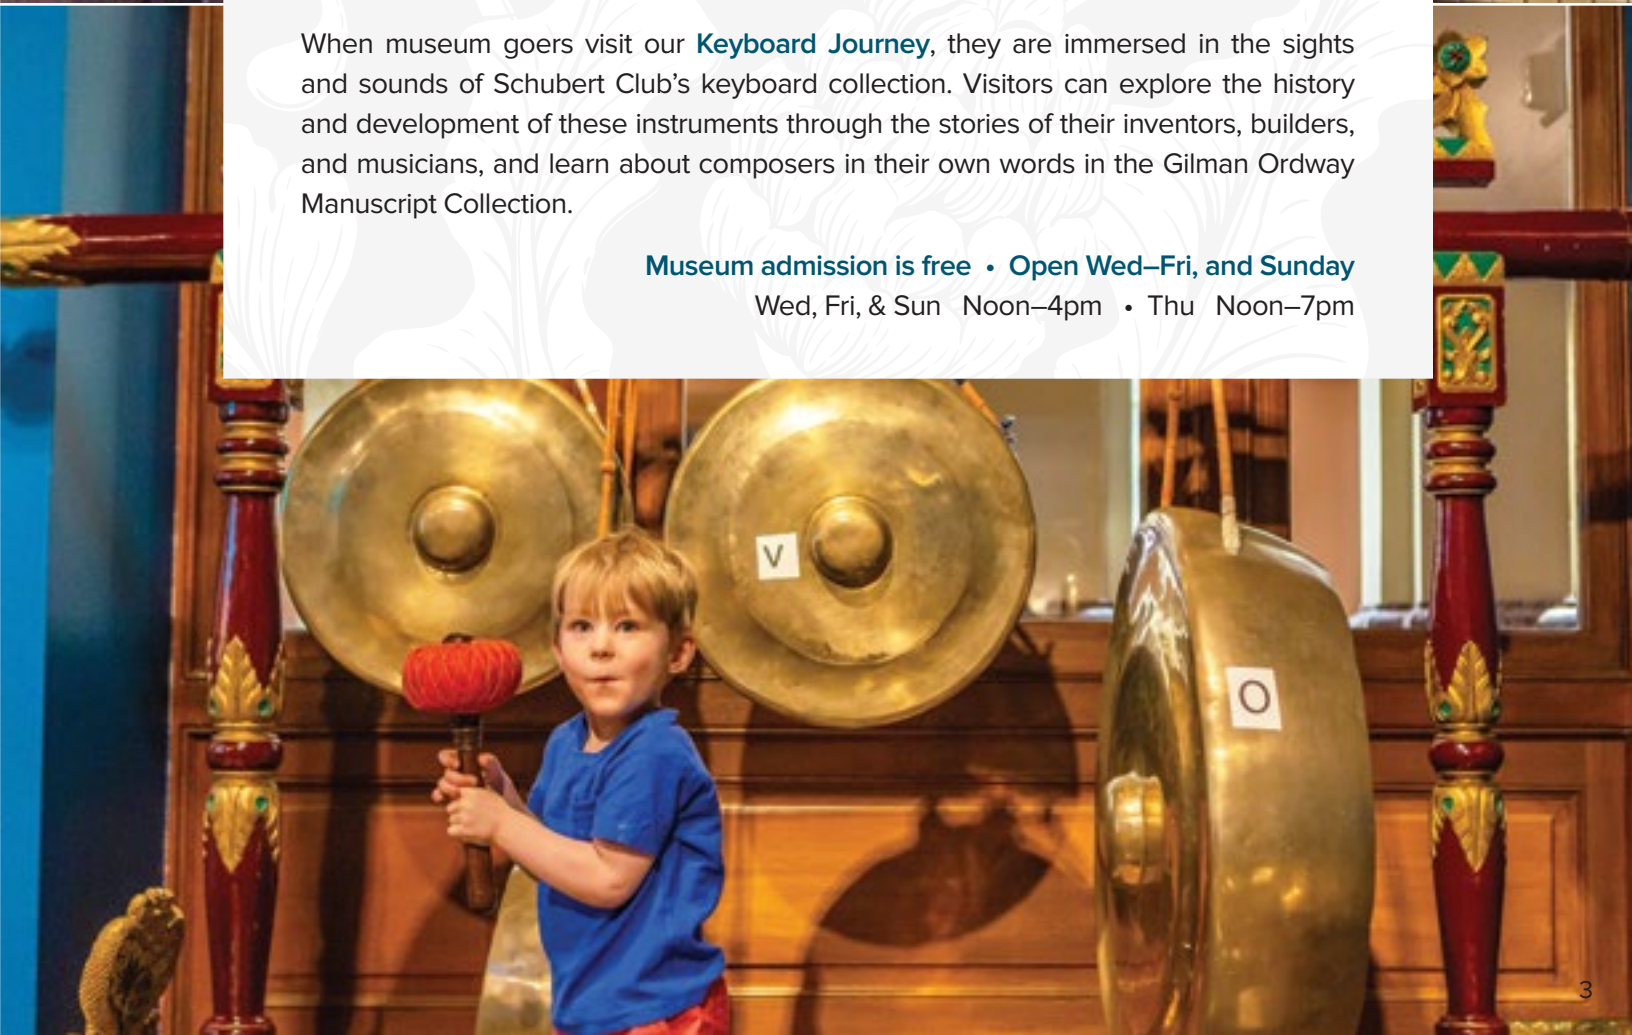

Schubert Club Music Museum Redesign

We are excited to welcome you to the new Schubert Club Music Museum! Following a complete renovation, we reopened to the public on June 10, 2021.

In the Music Makers Zone, visitors interact with instruments from across the globe. They are greeted by an instrument “tornado,” can get inside the beat as they clatter and clang along the Wall of Percussion, interact with keyboard instruments and learn to play some keyboard basics! This gallery is perfect for everyone, from virtuosos to the smallest beginners.

When museum goers visit our Keyboard Journey, they are immersed in the sights and sounds of Schubert Club’s keyboard collection. Visitors can explore the history and development of these instruments through the stories of their inventors, builders, and musicians, and learn about composers in their own words in the Gilman Ordway Manuscript Collection.

Museum admission is free • Open Wed–Fri, and Sunday
Wed, Fri, & Sun Noon–4pm • Thu Noon–7pm

INTERESTED IN MAKING A TRIBUTE?

Giving a gift as a memorial or tribute is a wonderful way to honor the life and legacy of those we love. Family members and friends often make donations to honor the actions of those they love while contributing to the continual growth of Schubert Club's many programs. Consider giving a gift today as a tribute to a friend or family member.

If you are interested in making a memorial or tribute donation, go online at schubert.org/donate or contact Amy Marret for more information at amarret@schubert.org or 651.292.3270.

Thank you to Dorothy Mattson and all of the generous contributors who helped start this new fund:
